Dear Shareholder

Important Information - Payments to Shareholders

James Hardie is soon to pay a US 5 cents a share dividend as well as a capital return of US 20 cents a share.

As James Hardie is incorporated in The Netherlands, it must withhold tax from each dividend paid to shareholders. This tax is called "withholding tax" and the standard rate of Dutch withholding tax is 25% of the gross dividend. Many shareholders will be eligible to claim a reduction in the rate of Dutch withholding tax that applies to dividends from James Hardie. In many cases, Dutch withholding tax can be reduced from the standard rate of 25% to a rate of 15%.

Please find enclosed a special form - Form A - that allows most Australian resident shareholders to apply for the reduction in the rate of Dutch withholding tax before the payment of the dividend. Please carefully read and complete Form A and return it in the enclosed reply paid envelope as soon as possible. To ensure that when you receive your dividend the withholding tax is deducted at a rate of 15% instead of 25%, the completed Form A should be received by Computershare Investor Services in Sydney on or before 11 October 2002. For most Australian residents the withholding tax deducted will be claimable as a foreign tax credit against your Australian tax payable.

Also enclosed is an Information Sheet to explain how to claim a reduction in the rate of withholding tax if you are not an Australian resident shareholder (see Section 1) or if you are an Australian resident shareholder who cannot complete a Form A because you are a trustee, nominee, agent or custodian (see Section 2). In both these cases, the reduction in Dutch withholding tax can still be claimed, but only after a dividend is paid. Additional information on how to claim a refund will be provided when the dividend is paid.

Dutch withholding tax applies only to the dividend. The capital return of US 20 cents a share that was approved at the Annual General Meeting in July 2002 will not be subject to withholding tax.

Based on information received from the Dutch authorities, we expect to be able to pay shareholders the capital return and the dividend in early November 2002. The Record Date and Payment Date for the capital return and the dividend will be announced shortly. If you have any questions about the enclosed please contact Computershare Investor Services at the above address.

Yours faithfully

Form A

DECLARATION REQUIRED FOR DUTCH WITHHOLDING TAX PURPOSES BY AUSTRALIAN RESIDENTS FOR DIVIDENDS TO BE PAID IN THE PERIOD FROM 30 SEPTEMBER 2002 TO 1 OCTOBER 2003.

IMPORTANT: Please read and complete this Form A if you are an Australian resident for tax purposes other than a trustee, nominee, agent or custodian. Please refer to the accompanying Information sheet if you are not an Australian resident for tax purposes or you are an Australian resident trustee, nominee, agent or custodian.

Under Dutch taxation law, James Hardie Industries N.V. (the Company) must withhold part of the dividend paid to Australian resident CUFS holders and Shareholders (Holders) and remit the amount withheld to the Dutch tax authorities. The amount withheld by the Company will depend on whether the Holder is an Australian resident as defined in the Australia-Netherlands Agreement for the avoidance of double taxation (the Treaty).

If you are an Australian Resident as defined in the Treaty (see below) and you complete this Form A and it is received by Computershare by the dividend record date, the amount withheld from the dividend will be 15% of the gross dividend. If you cannot or do not complete this Form A, or this Form A is not received by Computershare by the dividend record date, the amount withheld from the dividend will be 25% of the gross dividend. If you have more than one holding a separate Form A must be completed and lodged for each holding.

In either case, Australian resident Holders will be required to declare the gross Company dividend as "foreign source income" in their Australian tax return and will be able to offset the amount withheld (or part thereof) against their Australian tax payable as a "foreign tax credit". The amount of this credit will be equal to the lesser of 15% of the gross dividend or the Australian tax payable on net foreign source income after any allowable deductions. This means that if the amount withheld from the dividend is 25% of the gross dividend, the maximum foreign tax credit that can be claimed will be 15% of the gross dividend.

The Company is legally required to remit all withholding tax to the Dutch tax authorities and cannot refund any Dutch withholding tax to Holders. If 25% is withheld from the gross dividend Holders may be able to claim a refund of up to 10% of the gross dividend by lodging a completed Form IB 92 AUS with the Dutch tax authorities within a period of three years after the end of the calendar year in which the dividend was paid. Form IB 92 AUS is available from Computershare or at www.jameshardie.com. Please note that the refund will be in Euros and your bank may charge fees to deposit the refund.

Meaning of words in italics in declaration on reverse page:

Resident of Australia as defined in the Treaty is a Holder that is a resident of Australia for tax purposes and is subject to Australian tax on their worldwide income. If a Holder's taxable income is below the tax-free threshold for the particular year and thus the Holder does not pay Australian tax on that taxable income, the Holder is still considered to have been "subject to Australian tax" on the dividend income.

Beneficially entitled: Holders are beneficially entitled to the dividend income from the Company when they are required to include the dividend income in their assessable income for Australian tax purposes and are subject to Australian tax on that income. Holders are not beneficially entitled to the dividend income from the Company if they are a trustee, nominee, agent or custodian. In this case, the amount withheld from the dividend will be 25% and a claim for a refund can be made by lodging a completed Form IB 92 AUS with the Dutch tax authorities.

Permanent establishment: A permanent establishment of a Holder situated in The Netherlands is broadly, a fixed place of business in The Netherlands through which a Holder conducts business. If a Holder has any operations or agents in The Netherlands, they should contact their tax advisor to determine whether they have a permanent establishment situated in The Holders should be aware that invalid declarations may result in recovery of withholding tax, penalties and interest from them.

7. I declare that the information that I have given in this form is true and correct as at the date on this form and I will immediately notify the Company through its Australian registrar, Computershare Investor Services Pty Ltd, if my circumstances change and the above declarations are no longer applicable to this Holding

Section 1

DUTCH DIVIDEND WITHHOLDING TAX REQUIREMENTS FOR HOLDERS WHO ARE NOT AUSTRALIAN RESIDENTS OR RESIDENTS OF THE NETHERLANDS.

IMPORTANT: A reduction in Dutch withholding tax can only be claimed after the dividend payment. Further information on how to claim a refund will be enclosed with dividend payments.

Under Dutch taxation law, James Hardie Industries N.V. (the Company) must withhold part of the dividend paid to non-Dutch resident CUFS Holders and Shareholders (Holders) and remit the amount withheld to the Dutch tax authorities. The amount withheld by the Company upon payment of the dividend will be 25% of the gross dividend paid to the Holder. A refund of part of the amount withheld may be available from the Dutch tax authorities where the Holder is a resident for tax purposes in a country with which The Netherlands has concluded a convention to avoid double taxation (often referred to as a Treaty or Double Taxation Treaty).

If a Holder is entitled to, and seeks to claim a refund of part of the amount withheld, they will need to obtain and complete a form (a Dutch Form – see below). In order for a refund to be made, a Dutch Form will need to be lodged with the Dutch tax authorities within three years after the end of the calendar year in which the Dutch dividend withholding tax was withheld. A single Dutch Form can be completed for more than one dividend, eg. refunds relating to dividends received over a number of years may be claimed on a single form (within the three year time limit). Refund cheques will take approximately two months to be processed by the Dutch tax authorities.

Holders who are residents of New Zealand (NZ), the United States (US) or the United Kingdom (UK) should consult their tax adviser to determine whether a refund of the amount withheld can be obtained under the relevant Treaty. Subject to meeting the requirements of the Treaty, the total amount withheld can generally be reduced to 15% of the gross dividend paid and therefore a refund of 10% can be claimed from the Dutch tax authorities. The total amount withheld may be lower than 15% if the Holder receiving the dividend is a resident of the US and is exempt from tax in the US. For Holders who are residents of NZ, the US or the UK, a Dutch Form will be available from Computershare at the above address or from www.jameshardie.com. Dutch Forms for the following countries are:

Country	Dutch Form Name
NZ	IB 92 NZL for NZ resident companies and individuals.
US	IB 92 USA for US resident companies and individuals; or IB 95 USA or IB 96 USA for US organisations that are exempt from US tax
UK	IB 92 GRB for UK resident companies and individuals; or IB 95 GRB for UK residents that file their tax return on a remittance basis.

Holders who are residents of Argentina, Austria, Bangladesh, Belarus, Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, China, Croatia, Czech Republic, Denmark, Egypt, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, India, Republic of Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Kazakhstan, Republic of Korea, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Macedonia, Malawi, Malaysia, Malta, Mexico, Moldova, Morocco, Nigeria, Norway, Pakistan, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Serbia-Montenegro, Singapore, Slovak Republic, Slovenia, South Africa, Spain, Sri Lanka, Suriname, Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, Tunisia, Turkey, Ukraine, Venezuela, Vietnam, Zambia and Zimbabwe should consult their tax adviser to determine whether a refund of the amount withheld can be obtained. If necessary, for these Holders a Dutch Form can be obtained from the Holder's country's tax authority or from Belastingdienst/Logistiek Centrum, PO Box 9042, 7300 GC Apeldoorn, The Netherlands.

Section 2

DUTCH DIVIDEND WITHHOLDING TAX REQUIREMENTS FOR HOLDERS WHO ARE AUSTRALIAN RESIDENTS AND HOLD JAMES HARDIE CUFS AS TRUSTEE, NOMINEE, AGENT OR CUSTODIAN ON BEHALF OF AUSTRALIAN TAX RESIDENTS.

IMPORTANT: A reduction in Dutch withholding tax can only be claimed after the dividend payment. Further information on how to claim a refund will be enclosed with dividend payments.

An amount equal to 25% of the gross dividend will be withheld from Company dividends that are paid to Holders who are Australian residents for tax purposes and who hold James Hardie CUFS as a trustee, nominee, agent or custodian. A refund equal to 10% of the gross dividend may be able to be claimed by the person who includes the Company dividend in their assessable income for Australian tax purposes and is subject to Australian tax on that income (the Beneficial Owner), eg. the beneficiary of a trust. A Beneficial Owner who can and does claim a refund will reduce the effective rate of Dutch withholding tax to 15% of the gross dividend paid.

Only a Beneficial Owner who is an Australian resident as defined in the Australia-Netherlands Agreement for the avoidance of double taxation (the Treaty) can claim a refund of part of this amount withheld. A Beneficial Owner will be an Australian resident as defined in the Treaty if they are a resident of Australia for tax purposes and are subject to Australian tax on their worldwide income. If the Beneficial Owner's taxable income is below the tax-free threshold for the particular year and thus they do not pay Australian tax on that taxable income, they are still considered to have been "subject to Australian tax" on the dividend income.

If the Beneficial Owner is entitled, and seeks to claim a refund, they will need to lodge a completed IB 92 AUS form with the Dutch tax authorities within three years after the end of the calendar year in which the Dutch withholding tax was withheld. Form IB 92 AUS will be available from Computershare at the addresses on the front of this Information Sheet or at www.jameshardie.com. Please note that the refund will be in Euros and banks may charge fees to deposit the refund cheque. Refund cheques will take approximately two months to be processed by the Dutch tax authorities.

A single IB 92 AUS form can be completed for more than one dividend, eg. refunds relating to dividends received over a number of years may be claimed on a single form (within the three year time limit). Beneficial Owners may choose to lodge a single IB 92 AUS form to reduce the number of refund cheques received from the Dutch tax authorities and hence minimise potential bank fees.

The Company advises Holders who are the trustees or managers of Managed Funds to seek advice from their own professional advisers in relation to the application of the Dutch withholding tax refund process.
